

Agreement of use

(draft translation)

Google Inc., 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, California 94043, in cooperation with Reykjavík University and The Icelandic Centre for Language Technology will collect voice samples from the undersigned participant. The voice samples will be used for making language technology tools for Icelandic, .e.g. a speech recognizer. The speech technologies developed will be used on websites available to the public that Google operates.

In the study participants are requested to read text that they are provided with. The reading will be recorded on Android G1 smart-phones.

The only personal information recorded on participants is name, address, gender and age. Personal information will not be stored with the voice samples.

Participants are given the choice of listening to the recordings if they think that is necessary and can choose to repeat the recording or have it deleted.

Undersigned gives permission for the use of the voice samples that will be recorded for the above specified uses. Undersigned agrees to give the voice sample without pay.
